Coalition of the Radical "Wings" in Richmond.

We find in the New York Times a long report made to the New York Union League Club, by the late envoys to Richmond, through Mr. Jay, of their success in reducing to peace and amity the belligerent Radical leaders in Virginia. According to Mr. Jay, Mr. Botts confessed that the dispute between himself and the rival clique, "rested upon etiquette rather than principle." The complaint, hinged on the Richmond Convention of April last. Mr. Jay says:

"Mr. Botts, Mr. Chandler and other gentlemen," * * * objected to the authority by which it was called; they laid stress on the fact that it represented comparatively few counties; they complained that it was composed almost exclusively of the negro element, and they insisted that the citizens of Virginia, who avowed themselves unconditional Union men and who desired the organization of a great Union party, would not come into the party thus imperiously organized and so exclusively led. They had accordingly issued for signature a call for a new State Convention to be held at Charlottesville on the 4th of July to organize the Republican party in the State.

This call, which entirely ignored the existing organization, had been signed by nearly three hundred names of respectability and note in their respective localities, representing in a large measure the old Union Whigs and landowners. And Col. Lewis, himself of a Revolutionary family, had remarked that most of the names belonged to families which had settled in Virginia previous to the war of the Revolution.

All the efforts which had been made to harmonize the views of these differing leaders had failed to lessen their antagonism.

[Mr. Jay then explains how, in this juncture, the brethren of New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, were invited to compose a trouble, and a harmony repaired to Richmond. He continues:]

The same evening, at 8 o'clock, by invitation of Governor Pierpont, they met in general conference at the Executive Mansion. Some fifty gentlemen of both parties assembled to greet them, and the sitting continued until two in the morning. The discussion was opened by Judge Underwood, who submitted some interesting statistics, approved by Gen. Strong, of the voting population of Virginia, white and colored; and he was followed at length by John Minor Botts, Hanxhurst of Alexandria, Hunnicutt, Governor F. H. Pickens, of Charleston, and other gentlemen, who gave the whole history of the dispute from their opposing points of view.

The discussion was characterized by ability and great earnestness, and exhibited at times strong personal feeling, the expression of which was, however, tempered by courtesy. Before adjourning, it was agreed that each party should appoint a committee of five, to be heard the next morning, although the general impression seemed to be that a reconciliation was hopeless.

In reply to the views already alluded to as advanced by Mr. Botts, Mr. Hunnicutt and his friends suggested that the Committee who called the Richmond Convention had been appointed by Mr. Botts himself; that their action had been as regular as circumstances permitted; that it was the fault of Mr. Botts' friends; that were they the Charlottesville Convention, and organize anew, they would stultify themselves, and invalidate their own acts; that they would like to have Mr. Botts' friends with them, but if they would not come, the Radical Republicans could do without them, that with the negro vote the Radicals could carry the State and that the negroes would not follow Mr. Botts' lead. Mr. Botts said this might be possible, but he asked them to consider whether the establishment of the Republican Party in Virginia chiefly upon a negro basis, even granting their success for a few elections, would be really beneficial to the colored people when there should be a revolution of public sentiment.

The next day at 11 o'clock the conference was renewed at the Ball Room, with Mr. Gibbons in the chair. The committees were requested to confine themselves as far as possible to propositions for a re-union, and a final proposition was made by Mr. Beckley, a colored man from Alexandria, that the State committee ignore the proposed Charlottesville convention, and call a new convention to perfect their organization. This Mr. Botts promptly rejected, but invited the State committee to attend his convention, offering to modify the call so as to make its object the extending and perfecting the organization commenced at Richmond. This was approved by some and disapproved by others; the way for reconciliation was clearly opened, and after a brief and animated discussion, both parties agreed upon the joint call, which has been widely published, for a convention at Richmond on 1st of August. The result was greeted with great applause, and a cordial reconciliation followed.

The report was received with cheers by the club, and thanks were voted to the delegates who had represented it in the conference.

OLD TIMES IN NORFOLK.—Politics then ran high, and there were frequent town meetings to approve or condemn the measures of the Democratic government. At one of these meetings a long string of resolutions, laudatory of Mr. Jefferson, was offered. The secretary read the proceedings, which ran as usual: "At a numerous and respectable meeting of the citizens, &c., &c., after which, Mr. Cowper rose and said: 'Mr. President, this is a noble and a word was struck out, that the word 'respectable' be struck out; for, although we are respectable, it does not become us to publish what we think of ourselves.' This seemed even more reasonable, and the meeting struck it out. 'And now, sir,' said Mr. C., 'as this meeting has resolved that it is neither numerous nor respectable, I move that we adjourn.' And the meeting did adjourn, in such an uproar of laughter that Mr. Cowper defeated the object of the Democrats, who otherwise could have carried the resolutions, by an almost unanimous vote. —Norfolk Journal.

FERTILIZERS, &c.

GUANO AND FERTILIZERS.

The subscriber has on hand a full assortment of the most approved MANURES, which he has prepared to sell in any quantity desired, at the LOWEST MARKET RATES.

As the prices are uniform the farmer can obtain his supplies as well by correspondence as though he were to purchase in person.

1 OFFER:
Peruvian Guano, of the best quality.
Bolivian Guano. This article comes from the same section as Peruvian, which it closely resembles in texture and appearance. It is much richer in Phosphate, but has less Ammonia. For stiff soils or stiff sub-soils it will answer quite as well as the best Guano, and it costs but two thirds the price of that article.

Mexican Guano, of four grades.
Ground Bones.
Whitlock's Cerealizer. The high reputation borne by this article as the most effective and reliable crop producer made in the United States, induces me to ask the farmer to test it alongside of any manure he may apply.

Woolson's Ammoniated Bone Phosphate. This article is manufactured by the same house, and contains the best qualities of Peruvian Guano and Ground Bones. W. M. L. IRWIN,
No. 5, South Union street.

GUANO—REED'S AMMONIATED SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME. The best superphosphate yet offered to the farmer, possessing all the activity of Peruvian Guano, but being far more durable in its effects.

It contains a large amount of animal matter in a highly concentrated form, which, combined with its soluble bone phosphate of lime, cannot fail to render it very valuable as a fertilizer. Notwithstanding its value, it is to be the best superphosphate in the market, yet, by a process peculiar in its manufacture, whereby the expenses are lessened, we are enabled to sell it very low, with a liberal discount to dealers.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.
Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a hair. Come along, come youthful, come ugly and fair, And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.
For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out), and for curing itching humors of the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggist does not keep it, send us $1, and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given.
